CAMPUS
ADDRESS _____

Alison Jaggar, Wilson Professor of Ethics, University of Cincinnati, will be a Distinguished Guest Lecturer at the University of Alberta from March 2-14, 1986. Ms. Jaggar is the final speaker in the Women's Studies Lecture Series, which is sponsored by the Vice-President's (Academic) Advisory Committee on Women's Studies and the Faculty of Arts.

Ms. Jaggar obtained her Ph.D. in Philosophy from State University of New York at Buffalo, and in 1982, became a Professor of Philosophy at the University of Cincinnati. She was the first occupant (1984-85) of the New Jersey state-endowed chair in Women's Studies at Douglass College, Rutgers University. She is the author of Feminist Politics and Human Nature and co-editor with Paula Rothenberg of Feminist Frameworks: Alternative Theoretical Accounts of the Relations between Women and Men. She is also the author of numerous articles which have appeared in such journals as Philosophy and Phenomenological Research, Social Theory and Practice and in the books Feminism and Philosophy, and Readings in the Philosophy of Sex, to name a few.

While at the University of Alberta,^{Ms.} Jaggar will give two public lectures. The first of these will take place on 5 March, 7:30 - 9:30 p.m.^{at} L-1 Humanities Centre. The title of the lecture is "Teaching Sedition: Some Dilemmas of Feminist Pedagogy". This talk will address some of the problems associated with being a feminist in the classroom.

"Women: Different but Equal" will be the topic of the second public lecture on 12 March, 7:30 - 9:30 p.m., L-1 Humanities Centre.^{In} This talk, which is cosponsored by the Women's Program and Resource Centre, Faculty of Extension, Jaggar will discuss the question of whether being equal means being the same.

The Advisory Committee on Women's Studies wishes to acknowledge the financial assistance provided by the Endowment Fund for the Future and the Secretary of State, Women's Programme. For additional information regarding Dr. Jaggar's visit, contact Leslie Stewart, Advisory Committee on Women's Studies, 432-3093.

Dear Leslie:

Enclosed are the copies of your function sheets which outline all specified details regarding your upcoming reception/dinner on Thursday, March 6, 1986.

One copy of this function sheet is for your records. Please sign, date and return the other copy to our office, noting any changes in handwriting.

Our office must be advised of the guaranteed number of guests attending your function, no later than 48 hours prior to the event. This guaranteed number will be the least that you will be invoiced. We will be prepared to serve 5% more than the guaranteed number. Should your numbers fluctuate by more than 5% earlier in the planning of your function, please contact our office immediately.

The set up of the room will be completed, as discussed and specified on the function sheet, prior to your event. If you feel more detail, or a change in the set up is required, please contact us in advance to avoid any last minute change which may cause inconvenience to yourself and your guests.

Please note that the bar hours specified on your function sheet are the hours that our Food Services staff will be adhering to. If there are any changes to be made, please contact our office as soon as possible.

Please be advised that meeting room cancellations must be made five (5) working days prior to your function(s) or you will be charged for the daily cost of the room.

If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact our office.

Dear Alison,

Thank you for your letter of July 5th. We are delighted too that you can accept our invitation. I agree that it would be much easier to do our initial discussions by phone. However, I am criss-crossing the country at the moment doing interviews for a large research project and will be until the end of August. Since we have plenty of time, I will get in touch with you early in September at Rutgers.

The first two weeks in March are fine with us. Could we set the dates as March 2 - 15? Incidentally, there is no need for you to begin on a Monday, if you prefer to start your visit mid week.

I am sorry that I did not make it clear but the honorarium is in Canadian dollars. However, would you please let me know if this poses a problem and we'll see what we can do. We have booked a nice self-contained apartment for you right on the campus where I think you will be very comfortable.

We are all looking forward to your visit very much indeed. As you know, Dale Spender will be here for two weeks in September and a number of other guest speakers will be spending 2 to 3 days on campus with your visit in March finishing the program. We are very excited about it all.

In the meantime, I hope your trip to England went well and I will certainly be in touch with you in September.

All the best.

Sincerely,

M. Ann Hall

Alison Jaggar, Wilson Professor of Ethics, University of Cincinnati, will be a Distinguished Guest Lecturer at the University of Alberta from March 2-14, 1986. Ms. Jaggar is the final speaker in the Women's Studies Lecture Series, which is sponsored by the Vice-President's (Academic) Advisory Committee on Women's Studies and the Faculty of Arts.

Ms. Jaggar obtained her Ph.D. in Philosophy from State University of New York at Buffalo, and in 1982, became a Professor of Philosophy at the University of Cincinnati. She was the first occupant (1984-85) of the New Jersey state-endowed chair in Women's Studies at Douglass College, Rutgers University. She is the author of Feminist Politics and Human Nature and co-editor with Paula Rothenberg of Feminist Frameworks: Alternative Theoretical Accounts of the Relations between Women and Men. She is also the author of numerous articles which have appeared in such journals as Philosophy and Phenomenological Research, Social Theory and Practice and in the books Feminism and Philosophy, and Readings in the Philosophy of Sex, to name a few.

While at the University of Alberta, ^{Ms.} ~~^~~ Jaggar will give two public lectures. The first of these will take place on 5 March, 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. ^{at} ~~^~~ L-1 Humanities Centre. The title of the lecture is "Teaching Sedition: Some Dilemmas of Feminist Pedagogy". This talk will address some of the problems associated with being a feminist in the classroom.

"Women: Different but Equal" will be the topic of the second public lecture on 12 March, 7:30 - 9:30 p.m., L-1 Humanities Centre. ^{In} ~~^~~ This talk, which is cosponsored by the Women's Program and Resource Centre, Faculty of Extension, Jaggar will discuss the question of whether being equal means being the same.

The Advisory Committee on Women's Studies wishes to acknowledge the financial assistance provided by the Endowment Fund for the Future and the Secretary of State, Women's Programme. For additional information regarding Dr. Jaggar's visit, contact Leslie Stewart, Advisory Committee on Women's Studies, 432-3093.

Public Service Announcement

WOMEN'S STUDIES LECTURE SERIES

What does it mean to be a feminist and a teacher? What is the "different but equal" debate really about? These are the topics of two free public lectures to be given by ALISON JAGGAR, Professor of Philosophy at the University of Cincinnati. Ms. Jaggar will be a Distinguished Guest Lecturer to the Advisory Committee on Women's Studies, University of Alberta, from March 2 - 14.

On March 5, 7:30-9:30 p.m., Dr. Jaggar will discuss TEACHING SEDITION: SOME DILEMMAS OF FEMINIST PEDAGOGY. On March 12, 7:30-9:30 p.m., her topic will be WOMEN: DIFFERENT BUT EQUAL. Both lectures will take place at Humanities, Lecture Theatre One, University of Alberta.

These lectures are sponsored by the Advisory Committee on Women's Studies and the Women's Program and Resource Centre, Faculty of Extension, University of Alberta. For further information, contact Leslie Stewart at 432-3093.

Dear Mr. Thomas;

In a conversation with Anne Le Rougetel a few weeks ago, she encouraged me to submit an article or two to Folio regarding the Women's Studies Lecture Series. Please find enclosed two such articles, one on each of the remaining speakers. I hope it is not too late for the information on Catharine Stimpson. The photograph is of Ms. Stimpson. Could you please return it to me when you are finished with it. I have been trying to reach Alison Jaggar in the hopes of obtaining a photograph from her as well but have been unable to contact her as of yet.

I have also enclosed a few flyers for you to post in your general office area if you could. Please do not hesitate to call if you have any questions.

Sincerely;

Catharine Stimpson is well known for her work in two fields: English and Women's Studies. She is both Professor of English and Director of the Women's Research Institute at Rutgers University. Ms. Stimpson is the fourth speaker in the 1985-86 Women's Studies Lecture Series, which is sponsored by the Vice-President's (Academic) Advisory Committee on Women's Studies and the Faculty of Arts.

Catharine Stimpson is the author of numerous papers and essays and has written one novel, Class Notes. She is currently at work on a second novel, Suffer the Little Children, as well as a critical study entitled Gertrude Stein and the Replacing of the Avant-Garde. Ms. Stimpson is also the founding editor of Signs: A Journal of Women in Culture and Society, a scholarly, multidisciplinary publication. She has served on the editorial boards of several feminist publications and frequently reviews manuscripts for a number of publishing houses and presses. Since 1981 she has chaired the Ms. Board of Scholarship, Research and Education. In her career as a Professor of English, Stimpson has developed and taught courses on Literature and Violence, Literature and Revolution, Explorations in Black Literature, and Sexuality and Literature.

The Advisory Committee on Women's Studies, with financial assistance from Secretary of State Women's Programme and the Faculty of Arts, is delighted to bring Catharine Stimpson to the University of Alberta. On February 27, Ms. Stimpson will give a free public lecture entitled "The Meanings of Feminist Criticism". This lecture will take place at Humanities, Lecture Theatre One, from 3:30 - 5:00 pm.

For further information, please contact Leslie Stewart, Advisory Committee on Women's Studies, at 432-3093.

Dear Ann,

Thank you for sending all the material re. being a "Distinguished Visitor" at the U. of Alberta. The lecture schedule looks a bit demanding, but I'm honored that you are considering me.

I read your essay with much interest - & again I was flattered by your citing me. I agree with you that sport is an increasingly important area for feminist analysis. It may be that ~~feminist~~ the lack of feminist attention to sport is a symptom of our failure to challenge the ideological assumption that sport is not for women.

Your bibliography was very useful. Could you send me a copy of Cook & Fonow's paper - I don't know how to get hold of it? I'd also like a photocopy of the Willis piece, if you have one (it will save me from battling with ~~the~~ our library computers which are currently quite out of control). The Lenskyj paper wd. be extremely welcome too.

I'm going to be speaking at the Western Can. Phil. Assoc. meeting at the University of Saskatchewan in Oct. Any chance of seeing you there?

Enjoy the summer. I'm glad we're in touch.
Best wishes
Alison

FEMINIST WAYS OF KNOWING

Feminist Ways of Knowing is the theme of the second in the ongoing series of interdisciplinary seminars in feminist theory to be held at Douglass College of Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey. It will be meeting on Fridays, beginning September 6. The seminar will be conducted by Alison M. Jaggar, the first occupant of the Douglass Chair in Women's Studies. Professor Jaggar, Wilson Professor of Ethics at the University of Cincinnati and a Visiting Professor of Philosophy at Rutgers, is coeditor of Feminist Frameworks (McGraw-Hill, 1984) and author of Feminist Politics and Human Nature (Rowman & Allanheld, and Harvester Press, 1983).

The seminar is designed to provide a context for scholars investigating alternatives to prevailing gender-distorted ways of living and thinking and offers a forum for critical response to works in progress on this theme. In addition, the seminar contributes to developing a network of feminist scholars in the Rutgers area. Papers will be given weekly, mainly by seminar participants with the occasional possibility of outside speakers. Papers will be made available in advance to regular seminar participants. After the seminar, participants may eat lunch at their own expense in the Douglass facilities.

The seminar is open to any feminist scholar within commuting distance of Douglass College. Places will also be saved for four Rutgers graduate students and two undergraduates. Students will receive credit.

If you would like to participate in the seminar, please write a letter of application stating your background in feminist scholarship and explaining how your work fits the theme of the seminar, and how you could both benefit from the seminar and contribute to it. If possible, please enclose a sample of the work you would like to present in the seminar; otherwise, please describe the work and state when it will be in a form appropriate for presentation. A detailed letter of application will make it possible to create a seminar that combines a diversity of participants with a unified and coherent thematic development.

There will not be time for all the seminar participants to give a presentation, but some preference in admission to the seminar will be given to active researchers. Feminists outside of the academy are also welcome. Participants in the first seminar are eligible to reapply but will have a somewhat lower priority than new applicants. The seminar will be as inclusive as possible but not so large as to preclude full participation by all its members.

Letters of application should be sent to Dorothy Daugila, 305 College Hall, Douglass College, New Brunswick, New Jersey 08903. The new deadline for application is April 29. Participants will receive notification by May 15.

Dear Professor Hall:

I am delighted to accept your invitation to visit the University of Alberta as a Distinguished Guest Lecturer. I think the first two weeks in March would suit me best.

This letter is written in haste on the eve of a trip to England. Consequently, I am too pressed for time to make detailed suggestions about how I might contribute to your program. In any case, I think it would be more useful to discuss topics and audiences over the phone. Perhaps you could call me here in Cincinnati during August at 513-475-6324 (work) or 513-281-2163 (home). Otherwise you can reach me at Rutgers from September until Christmas.

The financial arrangements are quite acceptable. Since you mention "current fares and exchange rates," I assume my honorarium will be paid in U.S. dollars.

I look forward very much to my visit and thank you again for your invitation.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Alison,

Thank you very much for your letter of May 2nd. As you can see, our funding is now assured and enclosed is an official letter of invitation for your visit here in March of next year. I have also enclosed the papers you requested.

At this stage what I would appreciate is some indication as to the topics you would like to address. In general, I think we are looking at one public lecture, one or two open university lectures, at least one and perhaps two seminars in the Philosophy department as well as some requests by other departments to do a seminar. In addition, there will be some informal consultations with staff and students. Incidentally, we have persuaded the Philosophy department to offer a fourth year level course on feminist political thought and it will be offered for the first time in January. It is to be taught by Dr. Lynda Lange who is on our campus for two years as a research scholar. Therefore, we are hopeful that you will be here while the course is being offered.

A little closer to your visit, we'll be in touch with regard to travel and accommodation. Rest assured that we wish to make your stay here as comfortable, interesting and fun as possible.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Dear Dr. Jaggar,

It gives me great pleasure to write on behalf of the University of Alberta, and specifically the Advisory Committee on Women's Studies, extending to you a formal invitation to come to our university as a Distinguished Guest Lecturer for a period of two weeks in March 1986.

Over the next few months, we will be arranging the program for your visit and will supply you with any detailed information you may require, either about your schedule during your visit here or about the provisions that have been made for your accommodation while you are in Edmonton. I write to inform you more formally about the financial arrangements that have been made for your visit and about arrangements you must make to enter Canada.

The budget that has been approved for your visit is approximately as follows:

Economy Airfare (Cincinnati/Edmonton)	$650.00
Ground Transportation	50.00
Accommodation (14 nights @ $32.00)	448.00
Per diem (14 @ $50.00)	700.00
Honorarium	2,000.00
Total	$3,848.00

These figures are based on current fares and exchange rates and of course will alter when those things do. Would you be sure to keep any receipts relating to your visit and to your stay here as a visitor; the University's regulations require submission of these with the travel claim at the end of your visit.

Your role as a Distinguished Guest Lecturer and the brief duration of your stay should enable you to enter Canada without difficulty. As an American citizen or a permanent resident of the United States, you may apply for employment authorization at your port of entry into Canada. If you do decide to do that, please carry a copy of this letter with you when you arrive, as well as evidence that you are permanently employed or permanently resident in the United States. You should also be in possession of evidence concerning your American citizenship. In spite of the fact that you are able to do these things at the port of entry, I'd like to suggest that you make contact with a Canadian consular official prior to your departure and obtain these documents in advance of your travel.

We do hope that you will be able to accept this invitation, and I join my colleagues in looking forward very much to having you with us next spring.

Dear Alison,

First of all, thank you for responding so promptly to my phone call last Sunday. Your cv arrived on Friday and our application to the Distinguished Visitor fund is now in the hands of those who make the decisions. We should know about that source in a few weeks and then we intend to apply to our federal Government for the remainder of the funds. That, unfortunately, will take a little longer for a decision but to all intents and purposes, we see no problems to finding the funds to bring both you and Dale Spender to our campus next academic year.

We would dearly like to have you here for a minimum of two weeks in March of 1986. That is what we have budgeted for and that also is the minimum length of time Distinguished Visitors must stay in order for us to receive funding. I certainly appreciate your feelings now about wanting to stay put for awhile but perhaps by next year, you'll feel a little differently. Also, we should know about the funding well in advance so that you will have plenty of time to plan around it.

I have enclosed some information for your perusal. First, there is a project proposal for which we have now received funding. It will give you some background on who we are and what we are trying to do here. Our deliberations are going well and we anticipate handing the Vice-President our recommendations by the fall. Then, of course, the real work begins which is why we are organizing the speaker series. If all goes well, Dale Spender will be here for two weeks in September; there will be four speakers for two or three day visits between then and February, and you will draw the series to a close in March. As we choose the other four speakers, I will keep you informed.

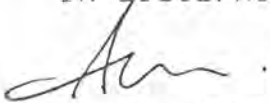

Second, I have enclosed the schedules of the visits of two Distinguished Visitors who have just been here. One in my own Department (Bruce Kidd) and the other for Margrit Eichler who was brought in by the Women's Program in the Faculty of Extension so that she was all over the campus. Regardless, it would be up to you to say what and how much you would like to do and we would go from there. Incidentally, we have requested a $2,000 honorarium which unfortunately will be in Canadian dollars but I hope it is agreeable to you. All travel and living expenses would, of course, be covered.

Finally, I have included a recent paper of my own which you might find interesting. As you can see, I think very highly of your book and each time I read it, I find something new. It is quite masterful.

Please let me know if there is any further information I can provide for you. I do hope this all works out, that you will agree to come as it would be a very great personal pleasure to meet you.

Thank you and I will be in touch again once we have our funding firmed up.

Douglass College of Rutgers University Proudly Announces The First Occupant of the State-Endowed Chair in Women's Studies at Douglass College:

PROFESSOR ALISON M. JAGGAR

Wilson Professor of Ethics, University of Cincinnati
Author of Feminist Politics and Human Nature
Co-editor of Feminist Frameworks

Applications are being accepted until March 15, 1985, for two visiting scholars to participate in an interdisciplinary seminar to be conducted by Professor Jaggar in the fall semester, 1985. Each award carries a stipend of $12,500. Applicants must be non-tenured researchers, including non-affiliated scholars, doing work which directly relates to feminist theory but which may be in any discipline. They will be expected to present one paper in the weekly seminar and to attend its meetings, but will have no other responsibilities than to be at the University during the semester of the appointment. Applicants should send vitas and descriptions of their research or copies of relevant papers. Recommendations (no more than two) may be submitted, but are not required. Other scholars, junior or senior, wishing to participate in the seminar and/or present a paper, and living within commuting distance, are invited to send vitas and relevant supporting materials. Announcements will be made by May 1, 1985. Please send materials to Women's Studies Chair Seminar, c/o Dorothy Daugila, Office of the Dean, Douglass College, New Brunswick, New Jersey 08903.

Douglass College, The Women's College of Rutgers University and the largest college for women in the country, is the home of the Rutgers, New Brunswick Women's Studies Program (Dr. Joan Burnstyn, Director), The Institute for Research on Women (Dr. Catharine Stimpson, Director), and The Center for the American Woman and Politics (Dr. Ruth Mandel, Director). Douglass College was the site of the 1984 Convention of the National Women's Studies Association. Over Seventy-five members of the faculty are doing research on women and gender, and the University offers numerous programs as well as research opportunities through its own collections and those in nearby libraries. The new Women's Studies Chair at Douglass has been created by women's studies researchers at Rutgers and by the Fellows of Douglass College to bring distinguished scholars to the University on a rotating basis.

Dear Anne,

Here's my CV. I hope it reaches you in time to be useful.

Would you be open to my visiting for a shorter period, such as one week?

Thanks for inviting me & your kind words about my book. I enjoyed talking to you.

Best wishes,

Alison
