Of the women helped, 39 were known to be pregnant.

Barriers to success

There simply is too much demand for the amount of resources in our community. This makes our work very difficult. CALGARY

I am so frustrated that supports that should be available to this family have to be fought to obtain. It's so hard to witness the struggles of women who can't afford a good lawyer fighting for their children. LAC LA BICHE

Workers were supporting a woman in limbo regarding her immigration...there is no government funding. EDMONTON

We want to help, but often lack the resources to properly assist women, especially with mental health resources. MORLEY

Children are coming with a greater depth of need requiring greater integrated services... CALGARY

Prevention

Shelters recognize that to end domestic violence, they need to conduct prevention activities and reach people earlier. Shelters are well positioned to do this, since they have frontline expertise and know the demographics in their communities. 100% of shelters are involved in primary prevention initiatives and are rarely funded to do this work.

We are partners in a community program. COLD LAKE

It was good to mingle with the community and I enjoyed meeting people and making contacts for the shelter. HOBBEWA

There is way more awareness and the message is out there and being heard. FAIRVIEW

I wish you were here when my mother was fleeing from my father when I was little. Now I'm here as an adult. Things might have been different. RESIDENT, STAND OFF

Top primary prevention initiatives shelters are involved in:

- 88% Public Awareness
- 80% School Programs
- 66% Education of Service Providers
- 59% Media Campaigns
- 54% Community Mobilization
- 49% Work with Men

Safe, affordable housing

Shelters were asked: If you were able to change one thing that would make things better for abused women and their children what would it be?

54% of shelters said safe, affordable and accessible housing.

Frustrated with a lack of resources for women when they leave eg. not enough second-stage shelters; not enough resources for singles housing. CALGARY

I came to the shelter because we had no where to live and I had to take my kids away from the alcohol, drugs and verbal abuse. RESIDENT, WABASCA

Frustrations with the lack of accessibility to urban shelters for women who either want to return to the city or need to move to the city for various reasons. With no housing and no where for the women and children to go, frustrations are growing for both staff and clients. As a result we are granting more and longer extensions and therefore turning away more families. Too many women are returning to unsafe and unhealthy relationships. WHITECOURT

Frustrations with lack of housing. LLOYDMINSTER

A client who has been doing really well has been determined and working hard for her 21 day stay is becoming frustrated because she cannot find appropriate housing. She has now had to fill out a Request for an Extension which has added to her stress. (This is a single mother of 4 children under the age of 5.) MEDICINE HAT

Our shelter was able to finally set up a repeat client with second-stage shelter, after trying to get this women the help she needs and deserves for so long. It was such an amazing feeling to finally succeed in such a huge way in support of this woman. The programming at second-stage will I'm sure be a great benefit and source of support for this client and her daughter. CAMROSE

We find working at a second-stage shelter a privilege and invaluable intervention in that we work where the client lives. CALGARY

Equitable pay for shelter workers

80% of shelters indicated that low wages for staff are a major challenge. 71% said that another major challenge is that trained staff are difficult to find.

This is rewarding work, with women/children. [Though] financially not rewarding. CALGARY

Thank you for making us feel welcome and accepted; The staff are so upbeat and positive it gave me hope PINCHER CREEK

I wish I could do more help them to move away from violence. I wish I could fix everything for the women and make it O.K. for them. STAND OFF

I wish there was more we could do. FORT CHIPEWYAN

I do this work because I believe in people's ability to make change in their lives. No one is beyond hope. LETHBRIDGE

The Crisis Workers were amazing. They were always there for me, even when I didn't realize I would need them. Every minute of support that they offered was priceless to my growth. They have an uncanny sense for when a person needs a kind word or hug or even alone time. RESIDENT, RED DEER

Number of women who reported being threatened by a gun: 35

This number is up 62% from last year.

Government repealed the gun registry, and efforts must remain focused on bringing it back into effect. ENILDA

On this same day, 90 women and 63 children could not be accommodated.

88% of shelters offer specialized services to at-risk women:

78% provide specialized services for Aboriginal women

51% provide specialized services for Immigrant women

51% provide specialized services for Disabled women

Clients are in need of basic needs; food, clothing, shelter, child care, employment, respite care, social and emotional support. STAFF, FORT MCMURRAY

Finally I can sleep tonight!

RESIDENT, ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE

No woman's life story is the same, and therefore it is so important to remember that the way to healing is always different. STAFF, BANFF

There are so many issues that I am facing. My time here will not be enough and that is a big burden to carry.

RESIDENT, TABER

Just to be able to give a little bit of hope and to be able to provide resources to help her and her children makes you feel like you are making a difference. Exhausted.

STAFF, GRANDE PRAIRIE

I am amazed at the courage these women have; I am humbled that they trust me and share these painful experiences with me; the kids are incredibly resilient and so loving in spite of all the violence they have witnessed.

STAFF, PINCHER CREEK

Increasing exposure of shelter to violence against immigrant women. STAFF, HIGH LEVEL

The staff here truly saved my family, and most of all, helped me to see I am stronger than I could have ever imagined. RESIDENT, HIGH RIVER

Our work is always challenging and sometimes we may have moments where we say that we can't do any more and we quit -- but you know what? I always notice that tomorrow is another day and that I am here every morning with my sleeves rolled up and ready to get back to work. STAFF, BROOKS

Everything is too hard. I can't find a place to live; I can't find a job; I don't know what to do about childcare. It's just too hard. RESIDENT, STRATHMORE

More complicated in the courts, more gender neutral responses. i.e. mutual charges. STAFF, HINTON

We have a great deal of pride, hope and care for their well-being and future endeavors

STAFF, GRANDE CACHE

I feel safe here. RESIDENT, ST. PAUL

Women are starting to speak out more against domestic violence. STAFF, PEACE RIVER
