Dr. Ruth Gorman, O.C., B.A., LL.B.

Dear Sir

I'm very glad you got moved to my ball park. It's no longer my ball park of course. I may be its - once citizen of the year, & Alberta's woman of the century but fortunately for everyone - times change. This is just a note to say welcome! Born in this city I love it for an ^{illogical} ~~unrealizable~~ reason. It's just foolish love. - but what's a better reason?

I'm still ^{hoping} pushing W.C.C. as the ^{will make some mark} only alternative. ^{although not as active in it as I was} It's a new political party but ^{fortunately} born into an area of always unique political parties.

I'm discovering new political parties are harder to keep alive than new babies. Babies are born every second, new political parties are rarer + more difficult. But I'm betting on "Albertans" If anyone can produce this rarity it is here.

This is just a welcome note.

I may later give you "hell" but I do want to say I have a great respect for true journalists. I did publish a quarterly magazine for 10 years that passed the test - it made money ~~before I gave up~~ - and won 4 press prizes before I gave up.

Sawyers too seem to have fallen into disrespect, so I am doubly cursed that I cling to the integrity of ~~the past~~.

But this is just a very belated welcome note.

Ruth Borman.

However this is ~~not~~ the present world it once was, there are ~~propaganda~~ ~~political infiltration~~ now news may just ~~turn out to be political~~ ~~become propaganda~~, & there is ¹ organized manipulation, ~~even~~ professional manipulation.

Dear Sir:

I'm very glad you got moved to my ball park. It's no longer my ball park, of course. I may be it's once citizen of the year and Alberta's Woman of the Century, but fortunately for everyone - times change. This is just a note to say welcome! Born in this city I love it for illogical reason. It's just foolish love - but what's a better reason?

I'm still hoping W.C.C. will make some mark as the only alternative although not as active in it as I was. It's a new political party but fortunately born into an area of always unique political parties.

I'm discovering new political parties are harder to keep alive than new babies. Babies are born every second, new political parties are rarer and more difficult. But I'm betting on Albertans. If anyone can produce this rarity, it is here. However, this is not the pioneer world it once was. Now news may just turn out to be political propaganda, and there is organized professional manipulation.

This is just a welcome note, I may later give you "hell" but I do want to say I have a great respect for true journalists. I did publish a quarterly magazine for ten years that passed the test - it made money and won four press prizes before I gave up.

Lawyers too seem to have fallen into disrespect, so I am doubly cursed that I cling to the integrity of the past.

But this is just a very belated welcome note.
