

Trudeau has said he wishes to hear what Canadians think of his proposed new constitution for Canada. What sophistry. During the last election when he was repeatedly questioned re his federalist plans he refused to answer, knowing full well if he did he would never get reelected. Since that election he has met continuously with Canada's Provincial Premiers who spoke for Canadian voters and the majority of them over and over again rejected his proposals. The businessmen of Canada, who are also electors have rejected his proposals as factually evident by the dollars decline and the drop in the stock market. Trudeau has been told and he won't listen!

The truth of the matter is Trudeau has never been concerned with human rights or constitutional reform. During his entire period in office we have had no reforms in the field of human rights. Diefenbaker had already given us a national Bill of Human Rights before Trudeau even arrived on the scene; and the very provinces he is pretending to bring rights to provinces who have already their own bill of rights. Among world governments Canada's human rights have always been admired and envied. Possibly in Canada the rights of women and Indians need reform but Trudeau has done nothing for either. In all his years in office the only human rights legislation he has passed was to help homosexuals, and it is he who passed the only shocking and offending law Canada has in the field of human rights - The War Measures Act one as severe as that of any fascist or communist dictatorship.

So why now the sudden concern for constitutional reform? It is clearly only because under his leadership he has led this country to the verge of bankruptcy, and the only way he can continue his mad spending spree is to find a quick source of temporary cash. He can't tax more from us and stay in power so he has to steal it and the only way he can do that legally is to change first the budget and then legally enforce that with a new constitution.

Trudeau has led Canada without making any kind of effort at all to curb the high cost of governments food prices, inflation or unemployment to where our debt will be nearly a hundred billion dollars a year. On each of our tax payer dollars you presently pay 20 cents not for services you have received or will but to pay interest on the debts he has accumulated. To conceal this he now hopes to under the pretense of constitutional reform to steal money from provincial tax payer to pay federal tax payer and he hopes we will all forget they are the same person. It's the oldest con game in the world. But he is doing all this to conceal the terrible deficit he has built up and so he will be allowed to stay in power.

He is not doing this to help Canada. When Marc Lalonde was asked in Calgary on T.V. where the government would get the money to buy the multi national oil company Petro-Canada needs he calmly said we can borrow it from other countries. We all know the countries that have money to loan, oil-rich Arab and Russian states and the industrially rich-Japan and Germany that's who is to own our energy - our Canada! In contrast the Alberta government has given up billions of dollars so Canadian oil projects stay in Canada.

To financially ruin the country is serious enough, but to attempt to also rob us of a constitution acceptable to the majority, makes it all impossible. It has to be met by firm resistance and outright refusal.

It is not democratic to allow any province to govern another beyond its borders anymore than it was for the British beyond their borders to tax the American's tea and it is as unacceptable. There seems no way within a democracy he can be stopped before the next election except if his own liberal party rises up and stops his disastrous race towards their own ultimate ruin and destruction.

We can as individuals legally boycott him. Sell, as I have done all government bonds and refuse to buy more, refuse to patronize any crown corporation like Air Canada, the CNR now renamed VIA RAIL or refuse to buy goods advertised on CBC. You can even refuse to lick his new high priced stamps and send back all junk mail saying you won't use the products sent to you by a federal agency. Don't buy Petro-Can shares and don't patronize, infact, picket the former Philips service stations that the government now owns. You might even join any picket line that is striking against the federal government.

We can by letters demonstrate to the liberal party members what a merry disastrous paper-chase Trudeau, with his sly shrug has lead them on.

It is Alberta and B.C. now who must pay the piper. Next year it will be Ontario and Quebec. All provinces better look out - if you make a cent he has designed an easy way to take it from you. It will always pay his debts - debts the provinces neither wanted or will benefit from.

I'm probably unknown to you but I am a Calgary citizen who has been endorsed by my city as a past citizen of the year and by my country by being made an Officer of the Order Of Canada. I am a non political being who once even turned down a Senatorship. I served in the past as an advisor nationally re. The United Nations Charter Of Human Rights, and served on the Canadian Bars civil liberty section. You can confirm my credentials in Canada's official Who's Who - or phone me in Calgary at 253-8686. I did this at my own expense so would you please hand this letter on to as many as possible.

This is not an east-west confrontation. It's a "TAKE-OVER OF EVERY PROVINCE'S RESOURCE FUNDS." Without these funds the provinces will have to ~~levy~~ levy new taxes to pay for our human needs (schools, health, welfare development etc) while our presently owned legacy funds reside in Ottawa under their complete control, to spend as they choose.
